

Final Call for

AVION

As I approach my 75th birthday, it's time for me to retire and, in so doing, end the production of airliner videos that I've made for over 30 years. As part of that retirement process, I'm hoping to sell as much of the remaining stock of DVDs as possible. So we're having a sale from October to the end of December, with all DVDs priced according to current stock levels. After that, all copyright and intellectual properties will transfer from Avion to me personally and their status will be protected.

All products listed here will remain available for the whole of the sale period, at the prices shown.

It's been great fun; I've enjoyed creating these memories for you and getting to meet or talk to so many of you. Thank you for your friendship, custom and support. May I wish you all the best for the future.

With kind regards

Howard Asbridge
